Few places to visit:

Radahnagar Beach: Tucked in Havelock Island, Radhanagar Beach is regarded as the best beach in India. It is a pristine stretch of sand backed by turquoise water and lush forest. Radhanagar Beach is commonly called Beach No. 7 and it looks straight out of the postcard. Times Magazine has awarded it the title of the '7th best beach in the world'. Radhanagar Beach is one of the many highlights, not only in Havelock but also in the Andaman Islands.

Ross Island: Named after Captain Daniel Ross, the Ross Island is now renamed as the "Netaji Shubash Chandra Bose Dweep" by prime minister Narendra Modi in 2018. It is a very small destination that comes under the south Andaman district, Port Blair and is barely 3Kms from the Water Sports Complex.

This Island was first occupied in 1782 by British and used it as an Administrative Headquarters for 85 years. During this time, a lot of important government offices were made by the British on this penal settlement, which were later abandoned after an earthquake in 1941.

The ruins of these old buildings made by Indian prisoners are still present at Ross, textured by thick roots of peepal and serie trees that takes us back to an era, long gone yet still remembered.

Cellular Jail: Cellular jail which is also known as Kalapani jail or Andaman jail is one of the most important National monuments from the days of Indian freedom struggle. Cellular jail is located about 2km from Port Blair city centre. The cellular jail was built by the British in 1906 into the gigantic structure we see today. The tales of horror committed by the British raj still echo in the corridors of the remains of this gigantic structure. It was referred to as the Kalapani jail among the freedom fighters in mainland India during the independence movement.

Corbyn's Cove Beach: Corbyn's Cove beach is the only developed sea beach in the Port Blair city area. This is a happening place in Port Blair city. The beach can be reached by road from Port Blair city (7 km). The beach is always open although water sports activities are allowed till sunset only. Corbyn's Cove beach has a long coastline and many Japanese bunkers on its side. There are many water sports activities to be done in Corbyn's Cove including Jet Ski and speed boat rides. The best thing to do here is Parasailing and SeaKart. When you fly in the air, you get to see the most beautiful view of the ocean under you.

Chidiya Tapu: As the name suggests, Chidiya Tapu is the perfect haven for unseen migratory birds and common native birds found in the Andaman Islands and it is one of the popular places to visit in Port Blair. Recognized as the most enchanting beach in Andaman and tourists arrive here on a large scale as the beach extends the best ever sights for them including the eye catching sunrise and sunset views.

North Bay Island: Famous for the underwater corals, North Bay Island located 5 km away from Water sports complex Port Blair is yet another favourite places to visit in Port Blair. Multiple clubs providing exhilarating scuba diving, snorkelling and sea walking at the island give it a special space in the hearts of adventure lovers. And because of this factor, North Bay Island is crowded all the time.

Jolly Buoy Island: Renowned for its beautiful corals and its scintillating beaches, this place can be accessed from Wandoor Beach and is one of the famous places to visit in Port Blair. Often called a no man's land. Nestled away in a small corner of Andaman and Nicobar is the Jolly Buoy Island, an uninhabited and ecologically preserved island known for its clear waters and beautiful coral reefs that make it one of the most sought-after sports in the Andaman for scuba diving and snorkelling, and truly being able to experience the beauty of nature that has been unaffected by man-made dirt and pollution.
